LAYING THE BASEMENT.

The Great Lone Land Forever a Thing of the Past.

Canadian Courage and Enterprise.

The eighth session of the Northwest Council—which rules a territory larger than half of Europe—opened in Regina on the 13th inst. Lieut.-Governor Dewdney, who wore the Windsor uniform, in his "speech from the throne," gave some valuable information about his territory. In respect to the growth of

he said that out of 137 townships heard from there are 71,951 acres under cultivation, of which 32,744 are of wheat, 26,021 in oats, 8,933 in barley, and the balance, 4,233 acres, in roots.

THE CATTLE INDUSTRY

in the west has made immense strides. The large number of stockmen who have engaged in this business south of the boundary line, and whose judgment can be relied upon, have indicated by the localities they selected in that country for their future operations that there are (what was not generally known before) safe cattle ranges extending to the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains to a point south of Regina, and reaching almost to the Souris river. The industry cannot but add immense wealth to the Dominion, possessing as it does an available territory of some 45,000,000 of acres raising a grass equally nutritious in winter and summer.

RAILWAYS.

The final completion and successful operation of the Canadian Pacific railway will mark the present year as one of the most important in the history of our country. The next in importance to the Canadian Pacific railway and one which it is hoped will give to the North Saskatchewan district early railway communication is the Manitoba and Northwestern, now extended into the Territories, and at whose present terminus an important settlement has already risen. In another year the extension of this line will have reached the important districts of the York and Montreal colonies, and of the Saskatchewan Land Company. The Long Lake Railway, which starts from Regina, is completed and running as far as the Qu'Appelle Valley, with a prospect of its extension to Saskatoon at no distant date. The Northwestern Coal and Navigation Company's railway, commonly known as the Galt railway, of some 125 miles in length, is now doing a large business, not only in the carriage of coal, for which it was especially built, but also in general passenger and freight traffic. The Manitoba Southwestern line has been extended 50 miles further westward during the present season, and will shortly be continued in a northwesterly direction to Regina, where it will connect with the Canadian Pacific and Long Lake Railways. It also appears that a commencement of the Hudson's Bay Railway has been made from Winnipeg and an intimation given that a line to Hudson's Bay from the Territories, with its initial point at Regina, is not improbable. These several railway extensions all in active progress, indicate the energetic railway policy of our Canadian Government and the enterprise of our people.

IMMIGRATION.

During the present season the territories have received a fair proportion of the western immigration and several colonies—German, Swiss and Hungarian—have been started with every prospect of success, and of their soon attracting a largely increasing immigration. The familiar names of New Alsace, Bismarck, Hohenholm and Esterhaz mark a few of these new colonies, and indicate the localities whence the settlers come. The provisional district of Alberta has also received a very important addition to its population, consisting principally of wealthy families, whose future occupation will be chiefly that of stock raising.

SCHOOLS.

On the 1st of January last there were 48 Protestant and 11 Roman Catholic schools established in the Territories—in all 59 schools. To-day there are 76 Protestant and 14 Roman Catholic—in all 90—showing an increase of 31 schools. The 76 Protestant schools represent a school population of 2,253, and the 14 Roman Catholic 538, in all, 2,788 pupils. In addition five petitions are now pending for the erection of new districts, with an estimated school population of 140. Considering that less than five years ago, these territories were practically an unknown land, the home only of the Indians and the buffalo, the progress here indicated must prove gratifying to every patriotic citizen. It certainly is one of the

that the "great lone land" discovered, if we may use the term, only a few short years ago, should exhibit such marvellous progress. What has been accomplished is but a forecast—a dim outline—of still greater achievements during the next decade. Ten years more will see half a dozen provinces knocking at the door of the Dominion for admission into the Confederation of provinces yet to form a powerful nation—a unit it may be in the Greater Britain in that grander federation that is now looked upon only as a dream of patriotic optimists.

A RAILWAY BRIDGE.

The proposition made by Coun. Humber at the last meeting of the council, to bring down a by-law authorizing a loan of $40,000 or $50,000 to build a bridge across the arm for the E. & N. R. Company was probably meant as a feeler. Coun. Humber, if we do not mistake the man, would be the last member of the council to sanction or approve of such a chimerical proposal. There a great many objections to it. In the first place, it would be an impediment to the navigation of the harbor unless built at a sufficient elevation to permit the passage of small craft and with a swing for large vessels. In the next place Johnson street is too narrow to be utilized as a railway track, and if put to such a purpose there would be constant danger to life and property. And lastly, the city of Victoria has no right, and has not been called upon, to build a bridge for a private railway company. Mr. Dunsmuir has acquired possession of the Indian reserve, worth hundreds of thousands, for the insignificant sum of $60,000, for terminal purposes, but like Oliver is asking for more. Possibly when West Victoria is built up, and traffic warrants the expenditure, the city will build a bridge for ordinary passenger traffic, but even that may be allowed to rest quietly for a year or two. We hope Coun. Humber will tell the public that he was only joking.

SLANDERED CAPEL.

A Refutation of the Scandalous Charges Made Against Him.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 13.—The Bee published a statement concerning the accusations against Monsignor Capel and Countess Valensin, showing that the scandalous stories about them emanated from remarks made by Count Valensin and that he gave information to Frank Pixley for publication in the Argonaut. The people of this country disbelieve the allegations that have been published, and look upon Monsignor Capel and Countess Valensin as very much injured. The statement which Valensin has made public—that Capel had invaded his home, broken up his family, and that he had sued for divorce—is entirely false, as divorce proceedings were commenced almost a year prior to Capel's taking up a residence in this country, and he came here direct from the East. Ever since he arrived at Arno farm Monsignor Capel has been employed as tutor to Pio, the ten-year-old son of the Countess Valensin, for which services he has received a salary.

ANOTHER VERSION.

Monsignor Capel, once a famous English Roman Catholic ecclesiastic of Irish extraction, who came to America in 1884, and made quite a stir in New York City, converting George Bliss and wife, and it is said fascinating Blaine, for whose election he worked earnestly, is charged with having seduced the wife of his friend, Count Valensin. The N. Y. Graphic, whose managing director is a Roman Catholic, and of Irish blood, comments as follows:

"The Graphic has already noted a prevalent rumor which avers that Monsignor Capel has fallen into disrepute at Rome, been unfrocked and deprived of his dignity of domestic chaplain. The dispatches from California this morning incriminating him in a flagrant scandal and charging him with breaking up the home of Count Valensin, where he had been sheltered as a guest, created no shock of surprise among well-informed Catholics of this city, for during his stay here he earned the reputation of being a showy, glittering and insincere man of the world masquerading in priestly garb."

"Monsignor Capel always had a penchant for cultivating the society of wealthy ladies, and it was through one of these, a member of his own church, that his duplicity was first conclusively revealed in New York. The lady had given him a liberal check for a specific charitable purpose. Monsignor cashed it at Tiffany's in payment of some ornaments appropriate for a female friend. In due time the check went back with Tiffany's endorsement to the lady who had drawn it, and naturally excited some suspicion and surprise. She resolved to investigate the matter, and her inquiries resulted in ascertaining that her tribute to charity had been diverted by Capel into the decking of a wanton. This discovery hastened the departure of the "missionary" to the far west."

Capel is a man of brilliant talents, splendid presence and captivating pulpit eloquence. Disraeli gave him a conspicuous place in his novel of "Lothair." Thenceforward, the Graphic says, "Capel devoted himself mainly to the business of making converts from among the wealthy and titled classes in England, a work for which he was well qualified by his polished, fascinating, unctuous manners, his erudition, his address and his knowledge of human foibles. When he came to this country to prosecute a somewhat similar mission and possibly to escape from importunate creditors he was at first received with flattering attentions. Gradually, however, his ex-Jesuitism grew less ardent in their admiration for him. Ugly rumors began to be circulated in whispers concerning him, and his name was coupled in club circles and elsewhere with that of a rather flashy third-rate English actress."

YALE ASSIZES.

The Presentment of the Grand Jury—Valuable Suggestions.

YALE, 15th October, 1886.

To the Hon. Justice McCreight, Judge of the Supreme Court of B. C.:

May it please your Lordship, we the Grand Jurors of the Court at Yale, beg most respectfully to make the following presentment:

We congratulate you on your return to this place in health, and we are also gratified that there are so few cases to be tried at this session, trusting that it augurs well for the peace and order amongst us.

We have examined the government premises and find the jail and all well kept, clean and in good order.

We, however, have to complain of the state of our roads and highways, which are growing useless and dangerous through neglect on the part of the government.

We also call attention to the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railroad crosses the wagon road a great many times below and above this place; there is no less than fifteen crossings of the road between this town and the suspension bridge, (in thirteen miles), and that there has been serious damage to life and property by running trains over these crossing, and we would suggest that the railroad company be cautioned to run their trains with greater care and to observe the law in respect to crossings, and thereby lessen the danger that unavoidably exists.

And whereas a serious accident has lately occurred by the death of one of our late residents, Mr. John Gowan, by being run over while on duty crossing a bridge and killed by a train. We would therefore recommend that whereas employees and others have frequent occasion to cross the railroad bridge and trestles that the railroad company should provide either safe crossings for passengers or place of refuge on the side to afford safety to persons being suddenly surprised by an approaching train.

COAL OIL SHIPMENTS.

Outside Refiners Using the Canadian Pacific Route.

Several months ago the San Francisco Chronicle uncovered the scheme adopted by the overland railways to afford the Standard Oil Company the means for perpetuating its gigantic monopoly on this coast. There was a determined movement made on the part of the independent oil merchants of San Francisco to establish a water route which should overcome the advantage possessed by the Standard Oil Company and neutralize the effect of the railroad rate of 72½ cents per 100 pounds to the monopoly and $1.20 to everybody else. One or two shipments were made by sea, but the result was not satisfactory, as it was found that the Standard Oil Company could make arrangements for defeating the object of the independent dealers on their own ground.

Now, however, the outside coal-oil refineries at Cleveland, Ohio, have taken a step which, in all probability, will make the Standard toe the mark and meet them on equal ground on this coast. An agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company recently visited Cleveland and made some tempting offers to the independent oil men there, virtually agreeing to put them on a par, so far as freight charges were concerned, between Cleveland and this coast with the Standard Oil Company with its special rates and privileges. The outsiders accepted the proposition, but some delay ensued, owing to the agent being compelled to submit the matter to the general officers at Montreal for ratification. This was done, and the answer has been returned that the rates can be made.

Some oil had already come to this city over the Canadian route, but the rate was 90 cents from Chicago, with 12½ cents local freight from Cleveland, so that, considering delays, but little was gained over the rate made by the discriminating American lines. In consequence of the new arrangement, however, shipments have recently been made from Cleveland to San Francisco over the Canadian line, ten carloads being now on the way. Regular shipments will now be made, the billing rate from Cleveland through to San Francisco being 82½ cents, the same as that made for the Standard Oil Company by the Pacific Coast Association and the transcontinental roads, from which a rebate is made of 10 cents, making the actual rate 72½ cents.

This is really the first time that the refiners not in the Standard ring have had an opportunity to compete for the Pacific coast trade on equal terms, and they are much elated over the new departure, although at the same time a fear is expressed that the Standard people will find means of closing the new route to the cities of shipments.

BANFF HOT SPRINGS.

Preparations for Further Beautifying this Famous Pleasure Resort.

All visitors to Banff return with the same story—praise for the curative power of the springs and the beauty of the surrounding scenery. Nature has been lavish in bestowing gifts on this section of the Northwest, and in nothing has she been kinder than in the matter of climate.

THE SPRINGS.

The great source of attraction, however, is the springs themselves. As the public is probably aware, there are two of these—one the springs proper, jutting from the side of the mountain, and the cave in which is a natural basin of sulphurous water. For invalids, especially those suffering from chronic or inflammatory rheumatism, the former is found to be the most valuable; but tourists generally prefer the latter. Descending into the cave by a ladder the pool is reached. The basin is 40 feet in diameter, and the water is of a uniform depth of from four to five feet, excepting in three places, where the waters come bubbling up from the subterranean regions. A constant source of amusement with regular frequenters of the bath is to get tenderfeet over one of these orifices, and then jumping on him, force him down it. The moment their weight is removed the spurting water pops him up again, not hurt, but very much scared.

ITS CURATIVE POWERS.

Extraordinary stories are told of the curative powers of the water, and an interesting and unique memorial of their good results is being prepared in the shape of a road from the cave to the springs formed of the crutches thrown away by invalids who have had no use for them when coming away. A story is also told of a man who, having been bitten by a rattlesnake, was informed by the doctors that his leg had to come off if he wished to save his life. He demurred most decidedly to the amputating process, and said that if he had to die he would die with his leg on, but before giving up said he "would try a whack at the springs." He did try and is now walking around in a much brisker manner than he would be able to do if he had let them take off his leg. People there from the Arkansas Hot Springs say the waters are superior to the Arkansas article.

BRITISH EMIGRATION STATISTICS.

Mr. Robert Giffen, statistical secretary of the British Board of Trade, has just published some very interesting emigration statistics—especially interesting in their reference to the United States and the British colonies. They indicate very clearly that, notwithstanding their British prejudices, the Scotch and English prefer the United States to the colonies of the mother country. Thus of the 98,382 persons who left England during the first eight months of this year, 55,467 went to the United States, 17,346 to British North America, and 20,301 to Australia. The Scotch are more marked in their preference for the United States. Of the 17,168 who emigrated from the land of Burns, 11,453 went there, 2,301 to British North America, and 2,687 to Australia. The Irish emigration was mainly directed to America. The total was 45,878, of which 40,200—or 15,000 less than the English immigration—came to the United States 2,214 went to British North America, and 3,240 to Australia. Another feature of the August immigration to the United States is the preponderance of the English and Scotch over the Irish. There were in August 14,124 British people—that is, English and Scotch, who sailed for America—against 5,901 Irish. These facts correct the erroneous impression that the greatest number of immigrants from the British isles are Irish. The English and Scotch immigrants so far this year are nearly twice as numerous as the Irish, and in August they were more than twice as numerous.

SUNDAY EXCURSION TRAINS.

In the course of his address at the anniversary of the Nanaimo Methodist Church last week, the Hon. John Robson said "He regretted that the management have considered it necessary to run trains on the Lord's Day. He thought that six days in the week was sufficient for work, and that public opinion should be kindly but forcibly urged to induce the management not to run trains on the Sabbath day."

A day or two later, at the office of a local railroad company, the Gen Manager, who is also a member of the local legislature, is sitting at his desk, reading a copy of the Nanaimo Free Press when he starts suddenly, jumps up excitedly, rings the telephone bell violently, and the following dialogue ensues:

"Hello, Central."

"Hello!"

"Give me Provincial secretary's office."

"Hello."

"Is that the Provincial secretary's office?"

"Yes."

"I want the Provincial secretary!"

"I am the Provincial secretary."

LAND SLIDE.

A Heavy Land Slide Near Ashcroft Delays Traffic.

THE MISSION, Oct. 19.—A serious land slide near Ashcroft last night washed away hundreds of yards of track, leaving a gully 25 to 30 feet deep. Passengers are being transferred. The trains will be delayed and traffic interrupted. There were no casualties reported. The damage will be repaired at once by constructing a new line.

OVER THE EMBANKMENT.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 19.—There was a land slide four miles this side of Ashcroft last night. The engine, tender and baggage car of the Pacific Express went off the embankment. The engineer was scalded and the fireman hurt. No other damage to persons. The train arrived at Port Moody at 8 o'clock.

AMERICAN HAPPENINGS.

FIRED INTO THE CROWD.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Shortly after noon a special train was made up at stock yards to convey a hundred discharged Pinkerton men back to Chicago. As the men marched into the cars they were greeted with yells of derision by the crowds of strikers and sympathizers. The same scene was repeated at Fortieth streets. The crowd was very large and abusive at this point and one of the Pinkerton men, exasperated by the jeers, pushed a Winchester through the window and fired into the crowd. The shot struck Dennis Bagley, a well to-do teamster, of the town of Lake, and he is believed to be fatally wounded. The crowd made a desperate rush for the train, which however, started off at a high rate of speed. Another train load of Pinkerton's men will start down from the yards this afternoon. Serious trouble is feared as the crowd is furious at the shooting and vow vengeance.

ATLANTIC COAST PIRATES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The Chronicle's Bangor, Me., special, says: During the great fire at Eastport, gangs of smugglers who had been engaged for years in smuggling goods from Canada into the United States, crossed over to the American side and entered the burning town and began pillaging the place for valuables. The authorities were powerless to resist and finally a fight took place between the citizens and the pirates, which was fierce and bloody. It resulted in a victory for the citizens. Shortly after a United States cutter put in an appearance and the plunderers were compelled to leave in their fleet of boats.

AILESBURY DEAD.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The Marquis of Ailesbury died to-day, aged 75 years.

The deceased marquis, Ernest Augustus Charles Brudenell-Bruce, was born in 1811. His son, Visc. Savernake, will succeed to the title and estates.

THE SEWAGE SCHEME.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I hope no one will make objections to the idea of sewering our beautiful city, or to this scheme, unless a cheaper and as effective one is forthcoming at once. But while saying so much for the scheme generally, I cannot say much in favor of the mode of apportioning the cost. The committee wish to charge it so much per foot front, regardless of the value of the property drained. This may seem fair, but is really a thoughtless proposal, and if the committee can quote Eastern Canada I would invite them to look for more equitable modes in England. There, the great main sewers are constructed at the cost of the city, the whole property paying ad valorem. Each building or plot of building land, then pay the cost of its own drain and of connecting with the main sewer. This is really a combination of both systems of charging the cost and I think is equitable. It has this great recommendation, too, that the great number of cheap holders would not likely vote against it as assuredly they will against the unfair proposal of the committee. Were we starting a new town, such as Vancouver, it would be fair to charge per foot front, but where we have an old settled town it would be manifestly unfair to charge property such as the Bank of British Columbia as little as a lumber shanty standing on as much land, which in many cases could manage with private drains and conveniences, whereas the bank and such property must have a general system. The property in town can bear the cost of sewers and frontage system; the cottage property on the outlying districts cannot pay the simple frontage tax, and the owners will be numerous enough to veto the proposed scheme. ENGINEER.

MR. DUCK'S RESIGNATION.

We were able to announce, in our last issue, the resignation of the Hon. S. Duck, who has continued to hold his position as Finance Minister, without a seat in the House, since the general elections. As we have repeatedly pointed out the continuance of an irresponsible minister in office was a violation of the well understood principles of constitutional government, for which there was no precedent in this or any other province. After forfeiting the confidence of the electors, and representing nobody but himself, Mr. Duck nevertheless has for four months discharged the duties of an adviser of the Crown, and possibly would have continued doing so until the House met but for the fact that public attention has been directed by these columns to the usurpation. Popular opinion was unmistakably opposed to the government retaining as a colleague a gentleman who had lost the confidence of a majority of his constituents, and who had not the slightest hope of finding a seat elsewhere. Had he understood the theory of responsible government as well as his deputy did the clerical work of signing checks for his chief's salary, Mr. Duck would have resigned on the day following his defeat; or had the premier, who quotes May as flippantly as a school boy cons the multiplication table, read the authorities understandingly, he would have demanded the resignation of the rejected minister on the spot. Party exigencies, however, were too strong for a weak and vacillating leader, and Mr. Duck was permitted to remain until conflicting interests could be reconciled and a safe way was discovered out of the difficulty.

But how does it happen that Mr. Duck's services can be dispensed with at this particular moment? We were told by the organ that it was in the public interest that he should remain at his former post. If the government were acting constitutionally in retaining his services for four months it could not be illegal or improper to continue them "a little longer," or until the House assembled. And, on the other hand, if Mr. Duck was an unauthorized ruler, a usurper, and for that reason has now been compelled to step down and out, he was in the same position four months ago. But now that he has retired, we do not desire to follow him into private life. As a private member of the House he has rendered valuable services to the people of the province, and especially of this city, and would have been honored to-day had he practised ordinary political honesty. He was elected because he was an opponent of the men with whom he afterwards coalesced, and only won a snap victory in 1885 when his recantation was apparently condoned. He has made and unmade himself, and his melancholy fate should prove a warning to politicians who may have ambition for office and three thousand a year.

Who Mr. Duck's successor will be has not been announced. The duties, not overly arduous, of the finance department will be temporarily performed, nominally at least, by the versatile Provincial Secretary, but really by the deputy of the department. But there are many needy politicians on the government side, and the Premier is committed to the fourth portfolio. An economical reduction to three, the organ of the Smythe party has told us; is out of the question, and so we may shortly expect another shuffle before the game of grab begins.

Our esteemed morning contemporary who tells us, in so many words that he will not pursue an independent course in provincial politics, in referring to Mr. Duck's retirement says something about the Times' "scurrility" in its treatment of him. We are inclined to think that it was only a slip of the pen and that some other word was intended. But if our contemporary really thinks that we have treated the late minister in that manner, we now invite his champion to rise and explain.

FREIGHT CURIOSITIES.

At present we read much of the peculiarities in connection with the transportation rates of the Canadian Pacific Railway and many of its rivals. The Chicago Times in referring to the subject, in a recent issue, says that a foreign commercial paper is authority for the statement that a steamship company has paid during the past summer 2 cents per bushel for the privilege of carrying wheat in bags from Baltimore to Liverpool. A Glasgow paper states that Scotch granite is now sent from that city to London by the way of New York. It is presumed that both the wheat and granite are used as ballast. A paper devoted to sheep husbandry states that the wool raised in Southern Australia was taken from Adelaide to San Francisco by steamer, carried to New York by rail, reshipped and laid down in London for a less sum than wool was carried from New Mexico to Philadelphia. The sheep raisers of Utah, unable to obtain reasonable rates for sending their wool to eastern markets, paid the local rates on it from Ogden to San Francisco, and then sent it to New York. By having it in San Francisco they were able to take advantage of the rates made in order to secure the transportation of wool produced in Australia and New Zealand. The Vermont butter makers complain that they are being ruined by the cheap rates made by railway companies to secure the carrying of Iowa dairy products. They state that butter is carried from Des Moines to Boston cheaper than from Montpelier to Boston. At a recent meeting of the Northwestern Dairymen's Association the proprietor of a Wisconsin cheese factory stated that he could send his products to Liverpool by the way of Quebec cheaper than he could get them transported to St. Paul. It is reported that salmon canned at the mouth of the Columbia River is carried to England for half the sum demanded for taking it to the eastern portion of the State of Oregon. Farmers living less than a hundred miles east of London complain that it costs more to send their wheat to that city than it does to send it from America. An adage that has lived through the centuries, probably on account of its apparent absurdity, informs us that "the longest way round is the nearest way home." If the longest way is not the nearest one, it may be, and often is, the cheapest one. During the past season Chicago and Milwaukee brewers have been using large quantities barley raised in California and Utah. With two railroads having no very large amount of freight to transport it would be reasonable to suppose that it would be brought by cars. But a very large proportion of it has been brought by water. It was taken from San Francisco to the Isthmus of Panama by boat, transported across the Ishmus by rail, reshipped to New York, forwarded to Buffalo by canal boat, and there sent to Milwaukee and Chicago on vessels. The entire cost of transportation was 48 cents per 100 pounds, which was about 40 per cent. less than the railway rates before the recent reduction. During a considerable part of last summer it cost less to ride from Chicago to San Francisco than to go half way across the State of California. During the same period persons living 100 miles west or north of Chicago and wishing to visit St. Paul paid their fare to this city, bought tickets to the capital of Minnesota, and rode back over the road on which they came.

THE COLONIST PROPRIETARY.

If we fall into an error in respect to the real character of the recent change in the proprietary of our morning contemporary, the mistake is not ours. The announcement in Sunday morning's issue of a change that has been freely discussed on the streets for several months, was made in such a guarded manner that we very naturally placed the same construction upon it that ten-tenths of the public did. However, we have the assurances of the new management that Mr. D. W. Higgins is no longer financially interested in the concern, and that the sale of the Colonist and the various branches of the business connected therewith is a bona fide one. We are bound to accept a statement thus made. Although we have in the past felt it our duty to disagree with our contemporary in many public questions, and most probably will feel constrained to differ from it very frequently in the future, we nevertheless can tender to the publishers our congratulations upon the important step they have just taken. There is just room enough in Victoria for two live and enterprising newspapers, one a morning and one an evening publication, and if our contemporary fills the bill in respect to the first, the Times will at least continue to "keep up its end" in the latter capacity.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

This year being a congressional year by the law passed in 1875 there will be a number of elections next month in the neighboring republic. Seventeen States will elect governors on the 2nd of November, namely, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, California, Delaware, Nevada, Minnesota, New Jersey, Colorado, Connecticut, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Wisconsin. Several states, including New York, choose members of the legislature and some minor state officials. There are no especially important issues to be introduced into, or results expected from, these elections, save what the prohibitionist or labor votes may accomplish in the way of disturbing the equilibrium of the Republican and Democratic parties. In many of the States there are temperance candidates for the first time, and as the Republicans are expected to be the worst sufferers from the withdrawal of the prohibition vote some of the contests will be watched with great interest.

The Weekly Times

Special Inducement

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Desiring that the Weekly Times should be read in every family, and found in every house and cabin in British Columbia, the publishers have decided upon offering the following rare and unheard of inducements to new subscribers.

Every person remitting $2 along with his own name, or that of a friend to whom he wishes the Weekly Times to be sent, will receive a copy up to the 1st of January, 1888; that is the balance of the current year and the whole of next year for one year's subscription. Names therefore should be handed in at once to receive the full benefit of this advantageous offer.

EXTRAORDINARY INDUCEMENTS.

The publishers have perfected a scheme for dividing amongst the subscribers to the Weekly Times valuable prizes, amongst which will be a

GRAND BELL ORGAN,

Style 45, B, costing the publishers $250. The instrument is now on view in C. A. Lombard's Music Store, Government street. This will be the FIRST PRIZE. The world wide fame of these organs is a sufficient guarantee as to the quality of the instrument to be given to a Weekly Times subscriber.

A Half Case, beautifully finished

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE,

the retail price of which is $75, purchased by the publishers from Mr. T. W. Fletcher's Sewing Machine Emporium, Fort street. The excellence of this machine was demonstrated at the late exhibition, by the beautiful work executed on it; the ease of motion, rapidity and its marvellous stillness, and the wide range of work the Domestic can perform places it at once at the head of all rivals. This machine will be awarded to a fortunate subscriber to the Victoria Weekly Times. This will be the second prize.

A FIRST CLASS PLOW,

to be selected from the ordinary plows kept in stock by Messrs. Nicholles & Renouf, at their mammoth Hardware, Machinery and Implement warehouse, Yates and Broad streets, Victoria. The makes kept in stock by this firm are those of Messrs. Copp Bros., Hamilton; Cockshut & Co., Brantford, and J. Fleury, Aurora, Ont. All are famous manufacturers. The winner to be permitted to select his choice from the ordinary makes of any of these firms, for which Messrs. Nicholles & Renouf are the sole agents in British Columbia.

THE OTHER PRIZES

Will include a first class Rifle, Gun, Revolver, Webster's latest revised Unabridged Dictionary, beautiful Table Lamps, Albums, the Domestic Physician and many other articles of utility.

The Distribution of Prizes, will take place early in the incoming year, and will be under the superintendence of well-known reliable parties, full particulars of which will be announced hereafter, and which we are persuaded will give satisfaction to all interested.

Subscribe at Once.

The fact should not be lost sight of that those who subscribe the earliest get the most for their money, as two dollars—cash in advance—pays from the date of subscription to the first of January, 1888.

How to Subscribe.

Enclose $2 in a registered letter; writing name of subscriber (the party to whom the paper is to be mailed) and post office, in a plain hand, and address

CHAPTER IV.

BREAKFAST TIME.

Out of his bed rose Cuthbert, to the tune of the school bell, swung by the man who cleaned the boots and thrived on pocket money errands to the destruction of youthful digestions.

His own mild hint yesterday, by which he had hoped to put his father off from grappling question, had stirred him into perception of new symptoms in his nature. With thoughts of his wife, and the secret to be divulged before another night should come, had mingled impulses of freedom, a yearning for the shows and struggles of an outer world, and a placid weariness of spirit, when the school room rose in his eyes, with the tasks to be set and the ignorance to be corrected.

His resolution to proclaim his secret was a quickening spirit in the soil of his mind, germinating seeds there which he himself knew not of.

"Why need I fear my father's anger?" he thought, as he threw open his bedroom window, and stood in a stream of sweet warm wind, fresh from the blue water: "I have served him dutifully, and will yet justify all his fine thoughts of his calling by sticking to it, if he will love Jenny, and bear with me for marrying her. If not, the world is big enough to find me work, surely! What I am fitted for shall not trouble me: but what I can get to do, I'll do."

This honest soliloquy done, he betook himself to dressing.

Never a looking glass gave back a handsomer face than that into which he glanced. Such a picture of dark auburn hair, white brow and blue eyes, bright with mind, as would set a heartless beauty dreaming like a faithful sweetheart.

And now for the day's dry work, the first stage of which was the meeting of the boys in the schoolroom, to await, amid crackling of yawns and restless shuffling of feet, the arrival of Dr. Shaw in that academic gown of his, which he donned only to read the morning prayers in or to birch a boy.

Between prayer time and breakfast time there was a half hour, to employ which profitably to its spirits, that stood sorely in need of regenerating influences, and also to escape his father's eyes, the twist of which, when they all got off their knees, he did not relish, Cuthbert went into the fields before the house; and so, through the glorifying sunshine and the narrow footway in the barley, down to the short grass of the cliff edge, on the swell of which he stood within a fathom of the sheer fall.

A scene of summer beauty and morning splendor was this he overlooked.

But Cuthbert was toiling with a giant in his mind, and nature was only blue and green to him; for there is nothing dainty to a troubled mind but ease, and this our young friend could not get, neither by sitting nor by standing.

But no use standing moodily conjecturing trouble. So back again to the school house through the crops, which went whispering to the passage of the wind, as though they had snatched a secret from it.

To the ushers—this old-fashioned term is very meaning—was conceded the privilege of breakfasting with the boys. But Cuthbert would have been glad to exchange places with any one of them that morning, so little fancy had he for a tete-a-tete with his father.

It was his duty, however, to be in the room when the boys assembled, and observe that grace was duly said by one of the masters, and deliver the order for the boys to fall to.

Under the clock he stood, punctual to the hour, and in a hungry swarm the boys tumbled in.

Grace having been said by a bachelor of arts, and the order to begin given, out sprang forty hands from under the tables, and the pyramids lost their form and substance.

Then Master Cuthbert, with a pleasant smile around him, left the room.

Old Dr. Shaw, with his legs crossed, and showing no prodigy of calf, bent an eye upon his son as he entered the room that seemed to twist round and round into him.

Cuthbert took a chair and waited, with his father, for the servant to bring in the ham and teapot.

Until these things were forthcoming the doctor held his tongue.

Then, wheeling round, cup in hand and the saucer poised on thumb and forefinger, after an old-fashioned habit of drinking tea, he looked hard at Cuthbert.

"I have no right yet, I suppose," said he, in a level voice, "to ask you to explain your mysterious hints of yesterday?"

"It was understood, sir, that I should have a day or two for reflection."

"For reflection on what?" demanded the doctor, sharply.

"In asking that, you ask all, father."

"Ahh!"

The doctor uttered the exclamation with a most embracing emphasis.

Cuthbert made no answer.

"I should be glad to have my doubts set at rest," continued the doctor, with a gloomy nod of the head, intended to serve as a challenge.

Still no reply from Cuthbert.

"Indeed!" exclaimed Dr. Shaw, with a great deal of the schoolmaster in his face and a flourish of the saucer, "I have a right to demand an answer from you."

"So you have, sir, unquestionably."

"Then give me, in a few words, the meaning of this change in your behavior."

"A few words will convey nothing."

"Then," shouted the doctor, "be elaborate. Give me prolixity if you will, so that you explain!"

"Pray, sir, moderate your impatience. I pledge myself to be open with you shortly."

Dr. Shaw grew red in the face, and deposited his cup and saucer, that he might gesticulate unconstrainedly.

"What," said he, subduing the passion in his voice, "what I desire to know, is this matter—in your mind, that is—not yet ripe for confession?"

"I have promised to tell you."

"When, sir?"

"Possibly to-morrow."

"So, sir, it is a secret!" said the doctor, with his eyes full of exasperation.

"So you will have it," replied Cuthbert, scarcely smothering a smile.

This was stubbornness dreadfully mortifying to the doctor.

But, in any case, the best compromise to justify present anxiety and preserve his dignity in the future, was a dark brow and a chilly demeanor.

Tussy were not hard to come at, and under their shadow breakfast ended.

(To be Continued.)

Such is the Spanish Custom.

The queen of Spain's baby is not a fine child, but small and puny. His complexion is fair and his eyes are blue. It seems supremely ridiculous that a king should, within an hour of his birth, be served up on a silver salver like an ante-dinner cocktail or sherry and bitters to a gathering of illustrious fossils. Yet such is the Spanish custom. His new-born majesty very sensibly, we learn, resented the proceeding and screamed lustily, whereon one of the ministers present asserted in his choicest Spanish that the new Alfonso was destined to make a noise in the world.—Cleveland Leader.

Phenomena of the Red Sunsets.

Eminent meteorologists, who have investigated the phenomena of the red sunsets, are now agreed that they were caused mainly by the masses of aqueous vapor thrown out by the volcano Krakatoa.

VARIOUS CLASSES OF CONVICTS.

Would-Be Desperadoes and "Suckers." Plots of Prisoners—Divorce Cases.

"It may surprise you to learn that the worst men in state prison are by no means the professional criminals whom the law pursues so relentlessly while they have their liberty. Your farmer who has shot down his neighbor's live stock in revenge, or poisoned a well or hamstrung a horse—the tramp who has fired a barn or committed rape—the village tough who has chewed some one's ear off or used a knife—these are the fellows who want to be considered prison heroes. They concoct plots and plans in order to be taken for keen men. They defy a keeper to show how desperate they are. They take a flogging to prove that they are clear grit. And yet, when you size 'em up for what they are, you find them curs. If a tunnel were dug for them they would not have the nerve to crawl through to liberty. There is no shop without its 'sucker' or give-away, and sometimes there are two or three to a shop. These soon become known to all the men, and are treated with the contempt such people deserve.

"Some of the plans and plots of prisoners to escape border on the ludicrous. I remember one plan where twelve convicts were to manufacture wooden guns for themselves and paint them up to resemble real carbines. They were to seize upon a certain moment to rush upon a guard, confront him with 'twelve cocked carbines,' and it was expected that he would at once fling down his musket and fall upon his knees in terror. There was another plan to go out by a balloon, and it was given up only for the want of silk, cordage, gas and a basket. During my term in prison I heard of hundreds of tunnels to be constructed, but only one of them was ever put through, and that was known to only three or four persons. If every plan cooked up each year was to insure the escape of one man, no one would be left at the end of twelve months.

"There is one class of men in prison whom I pity. They are sent there through a conspiracy and a chain of circumstances. I know of cases where wives have sworn dead against their husbands, got them within the prison walls and then remarried within three months. Almost every week divorce papers are served on some convict. He can, through an attorney, fight the case, but it is seldom that he does so. He may have left home feeling that his wife would be true to him while he was serving his sentence, and when the papers come it takes his heart away. If statistics could be gathered and preserved you would find that eight out of ten wives secure divorces from husbands sent to prison, no matter if his crime was stealing to give them food or using a weapon to preserve their honor."—Ex-Convict in Detroit Free Press.

Finest Markets in the World.

The Paris markets are probably the finest in the world. The Halles Centrales were built on the model of the Crystal Palace and though the other markets in the various quarters of Paris are not so large and so fine, they are all managed on the same principle, and are examples of what can be done when a people have an inkling that they are a real society, and that the common good is the truest way of arriving at the individual good.

In lying awake at night I always found that the only time out of the twenty-four hours in which there was absolute silence in Paris was about 2 o'clock in the morning. Shortly after this hour the market wagons began to pass on their way to the Halles Centrales, where they arrive about 3 a. m. They are there unloaded by a regiment of nearly 500 porters, called "les forts de la Halle," and who are only admitted after their physical capacity and moral character has been found satisfactory. The greatest care is taken to prevent bad goods from being sold. The inspectors weigh and test every pound of butter. The annual consumption of eggs in Paris is said to reach the fabulous number of 250,000,000. Those brought into the market are each inspected, and similar care is exercised over the meat; Whatever is condemned is covered with quicklime and buried. The butchers' shops in Paris are models of cleanliness and good order, and instead of making difficulties about small joints you are readily served with any amount you require. There are many reasons for this great superiority if compared with the same sort of shops in London—the markets, the supervision of the authorities, the great economy of French housekeeping, and the practice among Parisian housekeepers of doing their own marketing.—Goods Words.

Method of Printing Postage Stamps.

The mode of printing postage stamps is slow and tedious. The design is engraved on steel and plates are made for 200 stamps. This number forms a sheet and no larger number is ever printed at one impression. The colored inks are now placed on the plates and a hand press completes the printing process. The gum, a preparation of powdered vegetables and water, is put on the sheets and steam is used until thoroughly dry. The sheets are cut into halves, 100 stamps each, by hand and the paper between the stamps is perforated in the same manner. The stamps are pressed and packed ready for sale. The sheets are counted after each step of completion, and should one stamp on a sheet be mutilated or imperfect the whole 200 are destroyed. It was found that there was more destruction of stamps when machinery was used than when the work was done by hand. Five hundred thousand stamps were sometimes destroyed in a week.—Detroit Free Press.

A Piano Recital by Wire.

F. W. Jones, the electrician, tells a little hoax that he practised upon the good people of Porkopolis in 1877. He had invited a number of prominent Cincinnati people to listen to a piano recital transmitted by wire from Springfield, a distance of two hundred and forty miles. Receivers were provided for all, and at his signal the concert began. The listeners were enraptured at the distinctness with which they heard the music, and went away delighted with the new sensation. The line instead of going to Springfield, however, only extended into the room above, where a music box had been fitted to the diaphragm of a transmitter, and so arranged that it could be started and stopped at any moment from the room below.—The Argonaut.

In Europe cocoaine has been found efficient in the treatment of asthma.

DR. LEDUC'S PERIODICAL PILLS.

These Pills are compounded from the purest drugs, from those only which are known to set upon the generative organs in females. It is a well known fact that a very large proportion of the ills to which females are liable, are the direct results of suppressed or disordered menstruation, and it is necessary therefore that safe and reliable remedy for the cure of these diseases be placed within the reach of every one. Dr. LeDuc's Pills are the oldest, most generally used, and most reliable remedy for the cure of suppressed menstruation, and other uterine diseases, and wherever they have been introduced have driven every other remedy out of the market. They were first introduced into Paris, France, by Dr. LeDuc in 1839, and have so gained the confidence of the public that they have for years been the standing remedy in every household. DR. VANMONCISCAR,

THE WELL-KNOWN

SPECIALIST,

Proprietor & Consulting Physician of the Only Private Dispensary

Of this Particular Genus, now permanently located at 132, 134, Third Street, Portland, Or.

DR. VANMONCISCAR has made the treatment of Private Diseases of Men a special study and practice for many years. Over 4000 cases treated yearly. Recent cases of private diseases cured in a short time. Ulcers, Humors and Blotches on Face or Body cured without giving Mercury or other Poisons. Mercury is the curse of the human race. Your children will suffer from its effects. Avoid it as you would avoid any deadly Drug, and use no more. These diseases are being cured at this Dispensary without Mercury.

DR. VANMONCISCAR

is a graduate of a regular Medical College, is well known over the United States and Canada for and it is a well known fact that for years he has confined himself to the study and treatment of Sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr. Vanmoncisear addresses himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefit, and who, in fact, have done them more harm than good. Medicine, like all other sciences, is progressive, and every year shows proof of its advances by a combination of remedies of great curative power. Dr. Vanmoncisear has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief, but permanent cures.

Thousands of Old and Young Men he has Cured,

YOUNG MEN

who are suffering from the effects of youthful indiscretions showing some of the following symptoms: Nervous and Physical Debility, Impotency, Timidity, Lost Manhood, Abuses of the system, Exhausted Vitality, Confusion of Ideas, Dull and Lost of Brilliancy to the Eye, Aversion to Society, Despondency, Pimples on the Face, Loss of Energy, and Frequency of Urinating. You may be in the first stages, but remember you are fast approaching the last. Do not let false pride and sham modesty deter you from attending to your ailments. Many a bright and naturally gifted young man, endowed with genius, she permitted his case to run on and on, until remorse racked his intellect, and finally death claimed its victim. Remember that "Procrastination is the thief of time." So lay aside your pride, and consult one who thoroughly understands your ailment, and who will know your case, and find permanent relief for an ailment that has made many a drudgery and night hideous. Thousands upon thousands of men in good standing in the social world, of prominence in the world are to-day suffering from the fruits of their doings, the seeds of which were sown during moments of thoughtlessness. Young men are apt to ease upon thy companion, or seek the mirror for proof to substantiate this fact, but could he control the ardor of his feelings for the time again, how much could not appeal to you more sincerely. Let your mind wander back to the much cherished counsels of a loving father, and remember they are honest, though you may for the present fill your station in society, the time is inevitable as fate when your brilliancy will, like a flash, depart, leaving you a stranded wreck—desolate, forgotten and lost; so embrace the opportunity and enjoy life and happiness longer. If you claim to be a man, act your part nobly. Be not cowards yourself with the thought that Nature will help itself, for in doing so you not only fan the flame, but wreck Nature and yourself. Remember, "Large oaks from little acorns grow." "Little ills germinate fatal diseases."

Middle-aged Men,

married or single, who are prematurely old as a result of excesses or youthful follies, and who are troubled by too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and finding a deposit of ropy sediment in the urine, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will first be of a thin or milkish hue, and again changing to a dark or fiery appearance, causing nervous debility and loss of vitality. Remember, this is the second stage of Seminal Weakness. In all such cases a perfect cure is guaranteed, and a radical restoration of the Genito-Urinary Organs. All interviews and letters are sacredly confidential. Medicines packed so as not to excite curiosity, and sent by express, if full description of case is given; but one personal interview in all cases preferred. Patients treated by mail or otherwise. Call early and avoid crowding. Office hours: 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.; Sundays, 10 A. M. to 2 P. M.

BELL ORGANS.

Within the past few days the firm of C. A. Lombard & Co., Government street, have sold two beautiful Bell organs. A new lot, just arrived, are on exhibition at the firm's store. The quality of these instruments is first-class and they are a useful and fitting complement to any home.

SPLENDID FRUIT.

Mr. I. VanVolkenburgh has laid on our table five apples grown by Thos. Earle, Lytton, which weigh 5¾ lbs. Twenty of the same variety weighed 21¼ pounds. The fruit is firm and juicy, and equal in flavor to the eastern apple.

INDIAN CASHMERES.

The favorite material for AUTUMN and WINTER DRESSES. Our third shipment of this justly popular fabric, consisting of 15 pieces, in the most seasonable shades, just received. WM. WILSON & Co., City House.

A despatch from West Clare says a sheriff, a bailiff and a large posse of police, while trying to make seizures for rent at Guerrin, were opposed and defeated by 200 men and women.

A NEW LIGHT.

Mr. Mitchell and a force of men are now at work on the new incandescent light for household purposes. The plant has arrived, and a few weeks will suffice to erect the poles, string the wires and put the light in operation. The Edison light is in general use throughout the United States for house illuminating purposes, and some cities prefer it for street lighting. In Portland there are 40 arch and 650 incandescent lights of 16 candle power, costing the corporation much less than gas. A 16 candle power light is about equal to one gas jet, and when the cost of attending to the latter is taken into account, the electric light is by far the cheaper of the two. The engine and dynamos will be placed in the brick building on Langley street, near Fort, and when in operation the company feels confident the light will be adopted for general use in place of gas.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MUSEUM.

The new museum, of which Mr. J. Fannin, late of Hastings, will be curator, will occupy a room in the Government buildings, James Bay. The collection to be formed will comprise specimens of the various branches of natural history, and one of the objects aimed at will be to secure a sample of every known variety in the province. Minerals, Indian curios and natural curiosities of all kinds will be gathered together, and in a brief time it is hoped the collection will be of such importance as to prove of practical value in many ways. Mr. Fannin's collection of stuffed birds, among which there are some rare specimens, has been turned over to the government and will form the nucleus of the new museum. The government has made an excellent appointment in Mr. Fannin.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

All the members of the Mechanics' Institute are requested to be present at the meeting to-night, to take into consideration an important change in the management and control of the library. For many years the institute has not been self-supporting, and its friends think that the time has come when it should be taken charge of by the city and be made free to everybody. We believe the proposed change will meet with the sanction of the Mayor and Council and citizens generally, and that there will be no trouble in carrying it out if the members take the initiative. An act was passed at the last session of the House, giving councils power to purchase or assume control of libraries, and there will be no difficulty on that head. The meeting is at 8 o'clock in the reading room.

SHARP ON TIME.

Mr. Cook, the London Times correspondent, who visited Victoria recently, made a bet with Mr. Van Horne that the east bound transcontinental train would be at least three minutes late at Sudbury. Both gentlemen were at the time traveling westward. Considering that five days continuous journeying had already been performed since the departure of the train from Port Moody, Mr. Cook's margin was a small one. But Mr. Van Horne, who had probably received a telegram at the last station, knew that the Atlantic express was on time and he staked his money with the confidence of one who knew all about it. Sure enough the train entered Sudbury only fifteen seconds behind time, and the Vice-President won. The moral of the story is: don't bet against a sure thing.

PROBABLY A CRANK.

Mrs. Elizabeth Margaret Gordon has issued a pamphlet addressed to all the inhabitants of the world, in which she attempts to sound a note of warning regarding an impending disaster of the deep. According to this literary production, tidal waves are presently to begin rolling across the ocean, and grow more violent until navigation will become impossible. To prevent the disasters which might result from this suspension of communication, Mrs. Gordon proposes that the capitalists of the world unite in constructing a railroad from St. Petersburg to Behring's Strait, and another from that point to San Francisco. When constructed Victoria will be a way station between the City of Mexico and St. Petersburg.

THE REASON WHY.

Many citizens and some of the jurors who heard the evidence, have expressed surprise that the case of Russell vs. Russell should have been defended in court. The evidence was so conclusive and incontrovertible that those who heard it naturally arrived at the conclusion that discretion should have suggested a passive acquiesce in the application of the petitioner, and the dirty puddle of social pollution by this means be permitted to remain undisturbed. But a divorce under the circumstances, could not be granted by default, or mutual consent, the charge of adultery had to be sustained and necessarily the filthy pool had to be disturbed. Otherwise, we are told, there would have been no defence.

THE PORTLANDS IN THE LEAD.

Following is the record of the prominent base ball clubs of the Northwest for the past season. The Portlands, it will be seen, lead:

	Fly'd.	Won.	Lost.	Pr ct. won.
Portlands	17	12	5	.759
Stars	12	7	5	.583
Seattle	4	2	2	.500
Willamettes	8	3	5	.375
Victoria	3	1	2	.333
Shoshones	6	1	5	.166

The Shoshones, Victorias and Seattles played games with minor clubs, of which there is no record. The above figures are for their games with the Portland clubs. —News.

SOOKE SOCIAL.

At the first meeting of the Sooke improvement and social society held on Thursday, an essay on Education was read by Miss Jennings, which was highly complimented. The following programme was well rendered: Song by Miss Isabella Muir; readings by Miss Jennings and Mr. Hugh Milne; musical selections by Mr. John S. Muir; recitation by Mr. Donald Barney and songs by Messrs. John Murray and Adam Ross. The promoters of the society have every reason to be satisfied with the first meeting.

JEWISH SYNAGOGUE SERVICES.

Services will be held to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock commemorative of the Feast of Tabernacle (Succoth). The following evening services will be held at the same time on the occasion of the "Rejoicing of the Law" (Simchas Tourah). It is usual on these occasions to have the places of worship profusely decorated with fruits and flowers, which lend a pleasing effect to the interior.

THE DOMESTIC

Took the first and only prize awarded to sewing machines in all points of merit by competent judges at the Provincial Exhibition Oct. 9th. Special prizes for work done on the Domestic; best plain sewing; best chenille embroidery; best arrasene embroidery; best etching. T. W. Fletcher, agent.

STONE CROSSINGS.

Some time ago the Street Committee recommended that four stone crossings be placed at the intersection of Government and Yates streets. The improvement is very much needed, but thus far no steps have been taken to carry out the recommendation. Will Coun. Robertson, who is chairman of that committee, please rise and explain.

RUSSELL VS. RUSSELL.

The Jury Find a Verdict for the Petitioner, John J. Russell.

This case continued the whole of yesterday and far into the night. For reasons stated, we omitted the principal evidence, which proved adultery on the part of the wife. The petitioner's testimony will point the moral, "be not unequally yoked together," and we append it for the benefit of others:

John Joshua Russell, sworn: Married the respondent Jan. 13, 1882; remember the Saturday night previous to that; Mrs. Williams was in my sleigh. Had known the respondent for a year previous; on that Saturday night we agreed to get married on Monday. On Monday night I waited for her at the gate, and she came down; Mrs. Williams did not know of it; she was not then 16 years of age; she had not a mother alive; her father was not in the province; I was 42 years of age at that time; when the respondent came to the gate she got into the cab and we drove to Mr. King's and got married; after they were married they went to their own house. Mrs. Williams came to the house in company with police superintendent O'Connor. Did not know but heard that Mrs. Williams was so shocked at the marriage that she fainted outside the door. Mrs. Williams was a half sister to Grace; Grace told him after marriage that he only married her for money. At Mrs. Russell's request, after marriage he made enquiries as to what money was coming to her out of the Dodd estate; the trustee of the estate told him there was a small amount of money coming to her; he had called her bad names on some occasions but she had provoked him. Did not remember striking her on the back on April 15th, 1882; had several disagreements with her after marriage and sometimes had to defend himself; he accidentally blacked her eye on one occasion; he never took an axe and threatened to break the bed room door open and split her head; he broke a lock on one occasion when she escaped through a window; did not kick her and drag her across the kitchen on that date; had dragged her into the kitchen on one occasion; she had got in a temper and left the house some time previously that night; he went out to find her, and found her lying at the door moaning; he dragged her into the kitchen and gave her brandy; he thought she was feigning; she had several times left his house but not owing to his ill treatment; could not say if he had prayed that God would strike her dead. She left his house, 11th Jan., 1885; she had threatened to commit suicide.

The case went to the jury at 8:30, and in half an hour a verdict in favor of the petitioner was returned. Upon this verdict a decree of divorce will be issued. Mr. T. Davie for the petitioner and Mr. S. P. Mills for respondent.

PERSONAL MENTION.

At the Clarence: Ed LeKeen, R S Blake, J T Galbraith, Portland.

Michael Davitt, after having been given a rousing reception in Portland, Or., left for the east last Friday.

Mrs. Joseph Lovett was a passenger by the Sound steamer to-day from Montgomery, Alabama.

Sergt.-Major Robert Plummer arrived on the Rithet this afternoon and was busy receiving the congratulations of his many friends for hours afterwards.

Frank Smart, keeper of the Cape Arago lighthouse, died a few days since. Mr. Smart has been keeper of this light for many years. He was a brother of Miss Carrie Godfrey, opera singer.

Quincy A. Brooks, the newly appointed Collector of Customs at Port Townsend, has gone to that place to take possession of his office. His official bonds is $50,000, and Martin Cranston, James S. Hutchinson, Elijah Corbett and C. W. Knowles are sureties on it.

Archbishop Gross of Oregon, the head of the Catholic Church of British Columbia, Washington Territory, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, is expected to arrive in Tacoma the 23d of October. He will deliver a series of lectures for three days at the Catholic Church there.

MAYOR FELL ON BANFF.

His Worship drops us a note from Banff as follows:

This place will become a place of importance, being situated so as to command attention from tourists from east and west. The celebrated Hot Sulphur Springs and Cave will have the effect of causing the afflicted to try their luck and see if they can once more regain their lost health. At present there are quite a number here and many are the accounts of wonderful cures. Dr. Brett, who has a good house and a nice gentleman, will add to its popularity.

REDUCTION WORKS.

The reduction works in Portland are in an advanced state. The grading for the smelting and roasting furnace is about completed. The floors for the reception of the ores and the test mill building are nearly built, also the boiler house and assay office. It is confidently expected that the works will have all they can do as soon as they begin operations. Mine owners in this province will find them a convenience in prospecting and determining the value of their claims.

The North Pacific's consignees: A J Rowbotham, A Bossi & Co, C G Major, Carne & M. H. Tilton, J. Gosnell, J W McMillan, J Cunningham, J S Clute, Langley & Co, Matthews R & T, N Portman, Neufelder & Ross, Nicholes & R, B Maynard, S Leiser, Thos Earle, T N Hibben, W Eckert, W Gardner, W J Jeffree.
